Flea Removal

Hi, I am Don Minor Owner of flea removal.org

I am offering you this as a gift for visiting the website and as a help. I'm here to help you, not just take your money for a bunch of products that may or may not work.

I know fleas can be a big problem. My wife Diana and I care for a whole bunch of stray cats outside our home, not to mention the ones we keep in our home as pets.

Fleas can be our worst nightmare, if we're not really careful we can lose control and become infested every easily. With as many cats and dogs as we have, they can multiply really fast.

We been doing this for about 10 years now and we know better than to let them get the upper hand. Cause, if we do. We're in for a long hard fight trying to rid ourselves of them.

Now, sense you know a little about us and that we are talking from experience. Let's get started with some basic things you need to do to keep your flea problem down.

I believe the battle needs to begin before they become a problem and before they enter your home.

For the first Step: I start with the yard and I start early. As soon as to starts getting warm and spring has sprung, it's time to treat the yard. This will be your first line of defense.

If you can keep the eggs for hatch out and the lava from grow to adult fleas, you're off to a good start.

Neighborhood pets will be drop off eggs in your yard day and night. The only way you can protect yourself and your pets, will be to treat the yard. Remember, one adult female flea can lay upwards of 50 eggs a day.

Now, will this stop them all? No. Only, if were that easily. There are still other measures you're going to have to take, to keep good control over them. This however is a good started.

This product would be a great product to use on your yard and has good reviews. I have used this kind of product on my yard and had great success. To learn more about the product, click on the link or the picture.

Cheaper than Frontline for your pets!!, February 27, 2011

By Robert A. Smith

This review is from: Ortho 0167050 Bug-B-Gon 10-Pound Max Insect Killer for Lawns (Lawn & Patio)

I bought my first house in 2008 in January. First thing that spring I treated the yard with this product because the house had a huge spider problem. Not only did this item take care of the spider problem, but when I adopted a puppy and a cat I noticed I never had to buy any Frontline for them. They are now 2 years old and has never had a flea or a tick and I have never had to buy any protection for them. After 2 years I just started noticing ticks so I am going to buy this again to treat the yard. I don't know exactly why, but I haven't had to treat the yard in 2 years and this product lasted that long for me... This is a lot cheaper than to have to buy frontline for 3 pets every month! P.S. I live in a very rural area where fleas and ticks should be a huge problem, but with this product spread on my lawn they aren't even around!

Now, for Step 2: Next my concern is the house; your carpet is a great place for fleas to grow up. The eggs fall off from your pet into the carpet and on to the furniture.

If you focus your efforts on kill the fleas before they hatch or before they change into adult fleas. You will find the battle will be less costly. Especially, when you have more than one pet!

Buying Frontline all the time for your pets can get very expensive when you have a bunch of them.

What I call ground control products, which are used on your yard and the floor of your home, can be quite effective. When use in combination.

In many cases, if you use good products for ground control you can defeat them. You may not need the added cost of Frontline and other animal treatment products. As you have and will read, in the short reviews on the products. I have included, in my advice for controlling them.

I concentrate my efforts in these areas. Even with the quantity of pets we have and in our home, most of the time we don't need to use them. The carpet is what I keep treated the most and try to stay on top it.

On the next page you'll see a good product for this purpose and should serve you well in the area of carpet treatment. I have included one of the reviews with the product again, to prove my point here.

Flea Stoppers- 5 Lb. Flea Control

Flea Stoppers- 5 Lb. Flea Control

Absolutely the best flea treatment available!, October 17, 2010

By K. Stevens

This review is from: Flea Stoppers- 5 Lb. Flea Control

Flea Stoppers is easy to use and dust free. It is an ultrafine crystalline formula that penetrates all the way down to your carpet pads. I know this because when I had old carpeting replaced I actually had to sweep up a little bit of the Flea Stoppers that had made it all the way through the padding! I realized how great Flea Stoppers really is just recently when I accidentally bought Fleabusters boric acid powder thinking it was Flea Stoppers. It wasn't until I started using it that I realized I'd bought the wrong stuff. Rather than ship it back, I decided to try it. What a mess - very dusty and filled with clumps that wouldn't sweep into the carpet. I'm throwing it away and have already ordered a canister of Flea Stoppers! I have never had a flea problem since I started using Flea Stoppers over ten years ago. As far as I'm concerned, there isn't another product on the market that comes even close to Flea Stoppers for both effectiveness and ease of use.

Now, for the furniture, these areas are a little harder to treat because of the cracks and crevices that the egg can roll off into and are hard to reach, to treat. Untreated they can become a problem even after all the trouble you went through.

They are still a very good breeding ground for fleas and should be a part of the treatment area for the flea removal process system.

You can use spray chemicals on them, to help keep you comfortable and bite free too!

Many are long lasting, and can last up to 120 days. Which makes it easier to stay on top of them.

On the next page is another good product for this purpose. Again, I have included a third party review.

Enforcer Prod. FS14 Enforcer Flea Spray

Enforcer Prod. FS14 Enforcer Flea Spray

VERY EFFECTIVE FLEA ELIMINATION, May 17, 2010

By A. Dziennik "mellowde"

This review is from: Enforcer Prod. FS14 Enforcer Flea Spray

This product will eliminate both live and unborn fleas in and around home including infestations located inside walls. Once sprayed around perimeter of each room or around outside of home this product kills live fleas and continues to interrupt new flea generation from hatched egg/larvae. Will usually eliminate fleas on a permanent basis unless fleas are re-introduced by pets, etc. Fast knock-down and continuous protection will please those who have been bothered by flea bites as well as pets that are kept inside. Label says will remain effective for actual killing for up to 120 days but will more than likely eliminate your problem once and for all. If you bring pets in and out of your home you will probably want to purchase the direct pet spray as well to be thoroughly protected. In a rental at the beach I encountered a large flea infestation after moving in. It was just a matter of spraying one time to solve the problem. Highly recommended.

Step 3: If this is the first time you're dealing with the flea problem and you never treated your pets, a flea treatment is probably a good idea.

This will help you get it under control a little faster and start to make you happy again. A lot sooner.

If you follow the first 2 steps, in time you may find you don't need this anymore or only during peak flea season. We mainly use it on our pets that go in and out. To keep them from carrying any of them back into the house, as a precaution.

Treating your pets with a good quality flea treatment like Frontline or Advantage should help you on your way. Yes others are cheaper but the old saying you get what you pay for is the story here. There are a few good ones on the market other than these 2 the choice is yours. But these are the best known and seem to have the best results. You'll find most places carry them too!

They usually come in 3 and 6 packs in most places, so have large quantities too!. One tube is for a month in most cases. Follow the direction on the package exactly or you could cause harm to your cat or dog.

They are in different sizes for cats and dogs. Do not use the dog flea tubes on cats, it could kill or harm your cat. Dog size varies by weight of your dog and so can some brand names for cats.

On the next few pages you'll find links to a few of the name brand flea treatments for your pets.

Again, I have included a third party review and to learn more about the products, click on the links or the pictures.

The best defense/a good offense against fleas, September 26, 2005

By FrKurt Messick "FrKurt Messick"

This review is from: Frontline Plus for Cats 12 month (Misc.)

In my household of several cats, many of whom enjoy going outdoors (and bringing occasional things inside, including fleas), we need something to keep the pests (the fleas, not the cats) under control. Frontline is one of the better products available for this purpose.

I've tried other solutions - flea collars, products from other sources, and have only found one other item that matches the Frontline effectiveness for eliminating fleas. Within a day of the first use, the cats had stopped scratching and licking incessantly at their fleas. One of my cats is particularly allergic to fleas, and breaks out with sores at the flea bites - for him, Frontline is nothing short of a miracle.

I have known cats to have serious reactions to the flea drops from some companies. My cats have had absolutely no bad reactions to the Frontline applications.

This is a product I will definitely buy again. My cats give this a big 16 paw salute (four cats, four paws each, you get the drift).

This review is from: Frontline Plus for Dogs (89-132 lbs.) 3 months (Misc.)

My older dog is severely allergic to fleas. This product works wonders with getting rid of those pests. When I ordered this she was ripping out her hair because of fleas. (I know, I am such a bad mommy) Within a day she was more comfortable and I couldn't find a single flea on her. If you follow the directions it even lasts after a bath during the effective time. I couldn't say enough good things about Frontline. It quite literally saves my dog.

Keep this in mind, fleas belong to the insect family and in the insect community they have the ability to build an immune to poisons over time. So if you find that one kind flea treatment was work good for year or so but after a couple of years it seem to lose its effect. Your right, try changing the brands you're using to something that works on a different chemical base.

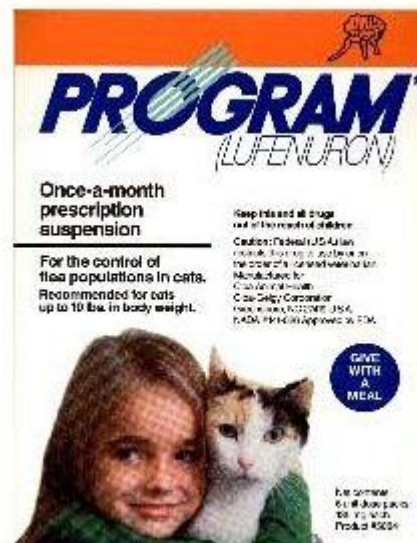

With this in mind, I have listed the advantage line and a few other brand names bellow. To give you a few ideas about how you could change the products which you are using.

Usually you won't run into this for a few years but if you do, now you have a few ideas as to what you can do about it.

Here an add bonus for Dog lovers

Where has this been all my life!, September 7, 2010

By C. Davis "HiJackZX1" (Miami, FL USA)

This review is from: 2-PACK PREVENTIC Collar (25") (One Size Fits Most Dogs) (Misc.)

In the past I have tried Flea and Tick collars with the same results most people get, they simply never work. I live in Miami FL, which is tick season 365 days a year. Usually the ticks are at a manageable level but this summer was out of control. My laziest dog had up to 30 - 40 ticks at one point. I rushed them to the vet, they used Frontline and I thought my issues would be over. Three days later the ticks came back with a vengeance and were eating my dogs alive. I then used Google looking for a pill like Capster (24 flea killer) but for Ticks. I couldn't find one but Preventic kept popping up. I kept saying that this stuff will not work because the Flea and Tick collars never work. I was so desperate though and saw that there was more positive feed back then negative.

Two days later I received the package. I placed it on my dogs and went to bed. The next morning I decided to check my dogs and was pretty sure nothing will have changed. Well I was wrong, all the ticks were gone. The ones that were still there, you could see were dying. The next day I saw that they had ticks sitting on their fur, but the ticks did not venture to the skin. So far I am on month 2 and non of my dogs have ticks anymore. Even in hidden places like ears and arm pits show not one tick.

Flea Removal Guide

I will say this though, I have one dog with sensitive skin and after using this the first day, I noticed a burn like mark in two places of his body. I took the collar off but then saw that the ticks were coming back and since then the collar doesn't bother him. Maybe its the first initial use that got him. Watch your dogs for at least 24-48 hours.

Also as a note, this collar does not work on Fleas, I use a shampoo called Sentry, which has a ingredient in it to break the fleas life cycle, kills the eggs and all and makes adult fleas sterile. Since using that shampoo, my dogs have never had fleas.

Do forget, pets are one of our enjoyments in life

And with Flea Removal.org

We Hope To Keep It That Way.

Thank for downloading this free guide and I hope it helps to keep you flea free.
